

Finding Your Dream Car

It's out there, but finding it can be a real pain.

A new service makes it easier than ever.

■ Just about everyone would love to buy a better car. But finding it and paying the right price can be a real pain.

Fraud alert. Every time you buy a car, people are trying to defraud you. Here are the best ways to protect yourself:

- Take your time - careful buyers take an average of up to three months.
- Negotiate the price before you go to the dealership.
- Also negotiate the loan terms before you go to the dealership.
- Be anonymous. When asked when they most want to be a man, women say when they're buying a car.
- Compare features across brands. Search tools tend to lock you into a brand, which makes comparison shopping harder.
- Get everything in writing, including the vehicle's VIN.
- Control the relationship so that no one can bug you.

Introducing YourCommand.com

YourCommand is a new, free service that makes buying a car easy.

Take your time. YourCommand is a "persistent" search that keeps looking day and night for the best match. Location is a search criteria so you'll be notified if you travel close to something worth checking out.

Negotiate the price. YourCommand includes a private messaging system where you control the relationship.

Negotiate the loan terms. Include the terms that you want in your search and have dealers compete for your business on your own terms.

Be anonymous. Women buy more cars than men and influence 80% of all car purchases. But women are manipulated and, according to Road & Travel, actually pay more for a car than men! YourCommand ends this discrimination by making all searches and negotiations anonymous.

Compare features across brands. Each YourCommand search starts with the features that are important to you and then shows the best matches for all brands. This helps reduce attempts to manipulate you.

Get everything in writing. The private messaging creates an audit trail for you.

Control the relationship. Private messaging in YourCommand is unique because the receiver controls the relationship. The dialogue only continues if you reply, so dealers have to be specific and not waste your time.

Additional features

YourCommand is like your own free, personal, unbiased Consumers Report. It is based on what you want and not what a dealer is trying to sell you.

If a match is good, you're notified on your phone with details including a map.

The way YourCommand assures your privacy and anonymity is simple - it never asks for your personal information. We cannot share, sell, or lose what we do not have.

With all of these free features, how does YourCommand make money?

Car mentoring. No car search can guarantee results but there is a way to improve your chances. YourCommand is pioneering the concept of a Close Hit™ so that you can learn from what almost happened, such as a dealer that almost found your dream car at the right price. You'll be able to compare what they have with what you want so that you can improve your search results. You can even contact them as needed.

You can even communicate with and learn from similar people who are having more success finding similar cars. All of this costs just $30/month.

With no risk, much better control, and total respect for your privacy, there has never been a better way to search for your dream car.

And now it's easier to sell a car. All of the great features for buying a car are also available for selling a car. Like automatically looking day and night for buyers and notifying you immediately when a match is found. It's the world's first search engine to find buyers.

When a match is found, it tells the seller what features are important for that particular buyer. It even shows new listings in your area that are similar to the car you're selling so you know more about your competition. And it alerts you when you're driving near a similar car that is getting more traffic than yours.

YourCommand makes you a better seller. You are able to evaluate the needs of current car buyers before you list your car. So that if you sell cars professionally, you can actually reduce or eliminate the need to carry inventory!

Knowing this current demand gives you a better feeling for what people actually want so you can best position your car.

For the first time ever, you can see why buyers are almost interested in your car and how you can improve your listing. Visit YourCommand.com today.
